"In the division of life, there is time present, past and to come, what we do is short, what we shall do is doubtful, but what we have done is certain and out of the power of fortune."—Seneca.

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

In a conversation, some ten or twelve years ago, had with the Author of this valuable compilation I mentioned the necessity of such a work as we now have before us. Having employed my time for the last forty years in cataloguing and preparing libraries for sale at auction, I had long felt the want of a work of general reference on the State, Town and County histories of our country. Their number had increased rapidly, and their importance had become so great, that I felt the want of a receptacle to store away the information of their rarity and peculiar importance that had been gathered by the various Bibliographers for the last two centuries—a receptacle where one could go and find information in reference to any history that might come into his hands. My argument was conclusive, and to-day we have the most valuable Bibliography that has ever been placed before the American public. For the Librarian it forms a most useful guide to the value as well as the importance of the history. To the collector it shows what books can be had. To the bookseller it gives a knowledge of their value, and to the historian it shows just what books can be had in reference to the history of any State, County, Town or Territory.

Dr. Bradford is a deep student, and has entered on this field fully equipped with the importance of the subject, as well as being aware of the immense labour necessary to compile a work which could be relied on. For ten or twelve years he has laboured on the book, with the enthusiasm that only a Bibliophile knows, until he has reached its completion, being satisfied that the result will confer a boon on all those interested in the study and collecting of American History.

The edition is of strictly one thousand copies, printed from type on paper made especially for the book, and the type has been distributed.

The publishers appreciate the generous manner in which the literary public has responded to the circular by subscribing for the work.

I was selected to pass a final judgment upon, or rather, to revise and edit the work. It is due to the Author for me to say, that his work was done so thoroughly, so clearly, that the part which I thought stupendous, dwindled down to a plain reading of the proof, with very slight additions, by

PREFACE.

This book is designed to be as complete a list as possible of the titles of the books and pamphlets that have been published upon American State, County and Township history. It includes the titles of the books, pamphlets and reprints that have been published previous to January first, 1904. Except in a very few important instances no books published after that date are listed.

Books upon early territorial history and exploration have been included when containing information of historical importance: Thus, titles, are given of some books upon New England, the Northwest, the Middle States and the South.

When possible, the title given is verbatim. A * at the end of the title signifies that the book has been examined and its title and pagination verified. The title usually given is the inner one, upon the title page proper, except in some instances of the older books having several titles, when each one is given.

Following the title may be found such items of bibliographical interest as have been thought worthy of note.

The prices for which each book has been sold are then given, with a description of its condition. Where no binding is mentioned, the original is to be understood; the price given, unless the edition is specified, is that for the original edition, the price of later editions following. The price is for the whole work and not for each volume separately. The auction lists examined include the important ones since 1860, and in some cases embrace earlier sales. Where the name of the owner is to be found on the auction catalogue, it is given; where the sale is anonymous the auctioneer's name alone is mentioned.

The compiler is fully aware that like all bibliographies this has errors of omission and commission, but they do not result from carelessness. This compilation represents ten years of careful and painstaking work.

That most valuable series of books for the student of American bibliography—Sabin's "Dictionary of Books relating to America"—has been carefully searched for titles. The lists of Asher, Ludewig, Roorbach, Kelly, Stevens, Field, Müller, Hildeburn, Green, the American catalogue, the catalogues of libraries, the auction catalogues, the volumes of Prices Current, booksellers' lists, and the State bibliographies and the journels devoted to book reviews have been collated, page by page.

In some cases it has been difficult to determine the titles to include and those to be excluded. But where doubt existed often the title has been admitted, leaving it for the future bibliographer to more carefully decide, for a pamphlet that is common now may, in fifty years, become very scarce, and they all deserve some record.

It has been the aim to include as many as possible of the titles of the pamphlets, of historical sermons, of local events, the pamphlets of but a few pages, that are so easily lost from sight, and yet many of which contain local history of real value.

As a rule, church history has been omitted, unless also especially devoted to town history. Books entirely devoted to genealogy and biography are not included unless in cases in which they are supplemental to town history. Guide books are not included, unless containing items of historical value, or in certain cases noteworthy from age or scarcity. State gazetteers have been included, because most of them contain historical items not to be found in works of more presumption.

The titles and in some cases the various editions are numbered from one consecutively to the last volume, and these numbers will be used in the index. The title at the top of the page is the name of the last author upon the page.

The final volume will consist of two indexes. One of short titles arranged alphabetically by authors, under the names of the states. The other of titles alphabetically arranged under subjects, localities, names of towns, &c., and reference in these indexes is in all cases to the number of the book in the author-title.

That some titles in this book are lacking in the name of their publisher is due to the fact that in most of the catalogues of auction sales and library catalogues, no publisher name is given. This is to be deplored, for the name of the publisher of a book is as much a part of its history as that of the author, and the catalogue that omits the name of the publisher in so much lacks the finish of the ideal bibliography.

The compiler desires to thank the librarian of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania for the freedom extended in the use of its valuable and extensive historical library in the matter of verifying titles for this work.

It is to be hoped that to the librarian, the collector and the book seller, this book may become of some value, and it is also the wish of the compiler that it may be used as a basis from which some day another fellow who likes to hunt titles may make a more complete and perfect index to American territorial, state, town and county history. ¶ For in these days of trained librarians and scholarly collectors it is the special bibliography that is of value.

T. L. BRADFORD.

Title: Dedication, 2 l. Preface, 2 l. Contents, 5 l. Text, 533 pp. Errata on verso of p. 533. 4to.

"The Swedish Colony and Mission on the Delaware, planted in 1638, under Oxenstiern, wrested by Stuyvesant of Manhattan and annexed to New Netherland in 1655, and swallowed up by the English in 1664, together with the other Dutch possessions in America, was never really abandoned or forgotten by the parent State till 1791, when it became permanently provided for and protected as part of the great republic of the United States. The best history of it is this by Acrelius, born in 1714, died 1800, who wrote first hand, having been provost over its three churches and rector of the old Swedish Church at Wilmington for seven years, 1749-1756. Besides his own collections and experience, he seems to have used judiciously all previous authors who had written or touched on the same subject, such as De Vries, Vander Donck, Rudman's MSS, Swedburg's Dissertation and America Illuminata, Campanius, Hesselius, Bjork, &c." Stevens.

"This important work is hardly less rare than that of Campanius, especially when in good condition. It has, besides, the merit of being much more extensive and of reproducing a large number of documents partly unpublished. The author stayed a long time in America, as Provost to the Swedish Congregation, and in his leisure hours he collected the materials for his history. Among his sources we find the Archives of New York, an unpublished manuscript (evidently very valuable) of A. Rudman, who was Superintendent at Wicacoa in 1697, and who collected all relating to the early history of the Swedish colonies in America, further the Royal Archives at Stockholm, and besides the Swedish historians, Campanius (of whom he speaks in high terms), Swedborg, Biorck, &c., also the early English works on Virginia of J. Smith and others. He even cites more than once, Van der Donck, manifesting thus uncommonly extensive reading."

"It must be regretted that down to this day no complete translation of this work has been published. Its real historical value certainly would procure a place to a translation in many a library to which the original edition is unattainable for its extreme rarity. Some parts of it have been translated in the N. Y. Histor. Coll., Vol. 1, 2d Ser." F. Müller.

"Another edition in one volume was published in London in 1808, 12mo., pp. 366. There remains no doubt that Ashe was a literary imposter, the first to discover that a book abusing the people of the U. S. would be profitable by its popularity. During his sojourn in America he passed himself off as a Frenchman under the name of D'Arville. Ashe's obvious fictions and libels destroyed the credibility of his descriptions; for instance, he speaks of the Great Miami as being perennial, from having its fountains in Lake Erie and flowing out of that lake. He also represents a bear, which he has shot as he descended the Ohio, stopping the wound with herbs, and he imagines the animal making an indignant speech on the occasion. The only part of the book that is not made up of ridiculous follies and falsehoods is taken verbatim et literatim from the Navigator." Thomson.

144. ———. Remarks made on a Tour to Prairie du Chien; thence to Washington City in 1829. Columbus, O.: Printed by Jenkins & Grover, 1831. 16mo, pp. vii, 296.

This book was also issued with the following title: The Indians of the Northwest, their Manners, Customs, etc., etc., or Remarks made on a Tour to Prairie du Chien and thence to Washington City in 1829. By Caleb Atwater, Commissioner employed by the United States, to negotiate with the Indians of the Upper Mississippi, for the purchase of the Mineral Country. Columbus, O.: Isaac N. Whiting, 1831. 12mo, pp. vii, 296.

Thomson says: There is no difference whatever in the two above works, except that in a few copies of the latter, the more elaborate second title was pasted in the unsold copies of the former. The first 28 pp. of the work relate mainly to Ohio. It contains a vocabulary of the Sioux language. It was republished in "Writings of Caleb Atwater." Columbus: Scott & Wright. 1833. Sabin gives the imprint, with parts of each title, as Isaac N. Whiting.

145. ———. A History of the State of Ohio, Natural and Civil. First Edition, Cincinnati: Glezen & Shepard, 1838. 8vo, pp. 403. Second Edition, 1838. 8vo, pp. 407. Third Edition, Cincinnati, 1858. 8vo.

The first edition contains list of subscribers which is omitted in the 2d edition; that, however, contains some additional historical matter. See North Amer. Review, 53, p. 320.

The first edition was stereotyped. "Some copies have Second Edition on the title with same imprint, 8vo, pp. 407. The matter is the same as the first editions except the additional four pages at end. The book was severely criticized in all quarters; the Hesperian says, that 'as a literary production it is deplorably deficient.' The author makes the assertion in the Preface that this is the first history of Ohio, which is erroneous, 'Chae's Sketch of the History of Ohio' having been published five years previously." Thomson.

Only the works devoted to history are listed here. The volumes on History of the Indian Tribes are omitted.

Volumes 15 and 16 deal mainly with Texas, although they include chapters on the northern states of the Mexican confederation, viz., Chihuahua, Durango, Sonora, and Sinaloa, together with the Mexican Federal territory of Lower California. The four interesting stages in the evolution of the Texan commonwealth during the present century—(1) the period of discontent and rebellion, ending in secession from Mexico; (2) the epoch of political independence; (3) the annexation to the United States, the war with Mexico, the relatively slow development of the country under the slavery regime; and (4) the amazing growth of the State in wealth and population resulting from the abolition of slavery and the inflow of white emigrants—are fully delineated. The book is especially full of biographical data.—Annual Amer. Cat.

Volume 17 is an important volume. It is full of original data by Mr. Bancroft.

He has consulted the Santa Fé archives, and has had access to rich stores of the most important documentary records from Spain and Mexico; and he has been specially fortunate in being able to utilize, practically for the first time, the works of Villagrá and several important documents bearing on Oñate's conquest. "Nowhere in my work," the author claims, "have I been able to correct more erroneous statements, fill more historical gaps, or, except in the matter of minute details, to supply in comparison with preceding writers more new matter." The result has been a condensed yet exceedingly comprehensive record of all that is historically valuable in the history of what may be considered the most interesting portion of the Pacific United States, or, perhaps, of the whole republic.

In volume 25 the author has grouped together the history of what are commonly termed the silver and centennial states, including also the partially intervening territory of Wyoming, which, with Utah and southern Idaho, whose annals are given in other volumes, form the central division of our Pacific coast domain, extending eastward from California to the limits of the field occupied by this series. The region described is the most romantic thus far touched upon, being full of natural wonders, with a climate and configuration, a mountain, lake, and river system, a fauna and flora, a geology and mineralogy, all of them peculiar and distinct. The most interesting portion of the volume naturally is the account of the discovery and development of the mineral resources of this section, in particular the Comstock lode, the yield of which has reached fabulous figures. In preparing the material for this volume the author has consulted in addition to the printed books and periodicals and public documents, a large number of valuable manuscripts furnished by the actors in the scenes which they describe. As usual, a full list of authorities consulted, and a good index is included.

In volume 26, the history of Utah, we find the history of Mormonism. The origin of this peculiar people, the rise and progress of their peculiar doctrines, are related in this volume with more fulness and fairness than probably by any previous writer. Following the plan adopted from the first in his historical series, Mr. Bancroft has given serious consideration to both sides of the question. The story as told in the text is from the Mormon standpoint, and based entirely upon Mormon authorities, while in the notes, running side by side with the subject-matter in the text, is given in full all the anti-Mormon arguments and counter-statements. The story is rich in light and shade—in moving incidents, intolerance, crime, persecution, lawlessness, and deeds of vengeance. In the estimate of Brigham Young's character, it will surprise readers to find he is not set down either as a knave or a hypocrite—"if a bad man, he was still a great man, and the evil that he did was done with an honest purpose." Chapters are devoted to the commerce, agriculture, stock-raising, manufactures and mining of Utah, also to its political, educational, and social institutions. 27 pages of authorities.

Volume 29 is devoted to an account of the effect of the California gold discovery in Oregon; Lane's administration; the administration of Gaines; discovery of gold in Oregon; Indian affairs; surveys and town-making; land laws and land titles; politics and progress; the Rogue river war; legislation, mining, and settlement; government and general development; further Indian wars; extermination of the Indians; Oregon becomes a state; the Shoshone war; the Modoc war, etc., etc.

Par M. Barbé-Marbois, avec une carte relative a l'étendue des pays cédés. Paris: Firmin Didot, 1829. 8vo, 3 p. l., pp. 485. Portrait and Map.

As the commissioner appointed by Bonaparte to represent France in the Preliminary negotiations with the United States Barbé-Marbois was well qualified to be historian of the event; and his book has proved the general source of information about it. The vividness of its style quickens the usual tedium of diplomatic negotiations into a real dramatic interest, which culminates in the cession as a climax rather than a result.

———. Bayard's Journal. A Narrative of an attempt made by the French of Canada, upon the Mohaques Country. Reproduced in Facsimile from the first edition printed by William Bradford, 1693. With an introduction by A. R. Hasse. New York: Dodd, Mead & Co., 1903, sm. folio.

"500 copies. From 1698 to 1902 no copy of the American edition of this most interesting little book was known to exist, and the earliest surviving volume known to have been printed in New York was the 1694 edition of the New York Laws. On November 11, 1902, a copy was discovered in the Public Record Office, London, endorsed on the back, 'Rec'd September 26, 1693, from Col. Fletcher. Fletcher at that time, Governor of New York, was chiefly instrumental in inducing Bradford to settle in New York, and the book which was written by two officers who accompanied him on his hurried trip to Albany against the French and Indians, in the winter of 1692, was the first product of the new press. It was probably printed during the summer of 1693 and a copy sent over to England to increase Fletcher's popularity there. From this the London edition, licensed Sept. 11, 1693, was doubtless printed. The New York edition was immediately used up, as Lord Bellomont, writing in 1698, says, 'I cannot possibly get one of them for love or money,' and from that day until 1902 it has been one of the 'lost books' of which tradition tells. This facsimile reprint with a most interesting introductory note by Miss Hasse, who discovered the original, is neatly bound in green cloth with uncut edges and is interesting both as the first New York imprint and as an account of one of the early expeditions in defense of the northern frontier of the province."

Up to the time of the discovery of this unique imprint Keith's "Truth Advanced," issued in 1694, has been held to be the first book printed in New York. The finding of this earlier title is therefore an important event in the history of printing. Major Ingoldsby at Albany, expecting an attack from the French, sent a message on February 14, 1693, to Governor Fletcher, stating that all his provisions had been collected and sent to Schenectady and he had levied upon all possible resources and could but muster 600 men, and asks immediate aid from New York. It is the account of how this aid was rendered which constitutes what is commonly known as Bayard's Journal, and is sometimes referred to as "The Lost Bradford Journal." Burrows Bros. Catalog.

Athenaeo, | Praeside, | Viro Amplissimo atque Celeberrimo | Mag. Andrea Bronwall, | Eth. & Polit. Prof. Reg. & Ord. | in Audit. Gust. Maj. d. 14 Jun. | An. 1731. | Examinandam modeste sistit | Tobias E. Biörck. | Americano-Dalekarlus. | Upsaliae Literis Wernerianis. | 4 prel. leaves, 34 pp. Map, Delineatio Pennsilvaniae et Caesareae Nov. Occident seu West N. Iersey in America.

"An extremely rare work, and of the highest importance for the early history of the Swedish Church in America, not mentioned by the bibliographers Rich, Sabin, Stevens, etc. The author, a son of Ericus Biörck, who was sent as minister to New Sweden in 1697, was a born American, and his History is the first work on that country written by a native of it, which as far as I know, had been published in Sweden. It is full of interest not only for its historical details, but also for the knowledge of the Indians. In the preliminary pages will be found a dedication to Count Gyllenborg of Lund, and a letter of Andr. Hesselius to the learned American, Tob. Biörck, both in English, the first in verses. It is curious that they are not written in Swedish, and perhaps we may conclude from this circumstance that at that time already the Swedish language was rather unfamiliar to the colonists in New Sweden. The map seems to be taken from an English original, as it bears the English armours with the 'Je maintandria' (sic). This tract is sometimes attributed to A. Gronwall, but erroneously, the disputation has been held under his presidentship, and therefore he is named on the title together with Biörck, as in Sweden it was the custom, as in Germany, for the Professors to write a dissertation, to be defended by their disciples; but there were honorable exceptions, as, for instancce, here. Biörck is the only author." Müller.

Mr. Müller says that this book is unknown to Stevens, but I found the title given above in Stevens' Catalog of Rare Books Relating to America, London, July, 1885, p. 15. Doubtless at the time Mr. Müller published (1872) the book was unknown. Br.

384. BIRKBECK, MORRIS. Letters from Illinois. Illustrated by a Map of the United States, shewing Mr. Birkbeck's Journey from Norfolk to Illinois and a Map of English Prairie and the Adjacent Country, by John Melish. Philadelphia: Carey & Son, 1818. 12mo, pp. 154. 2 maps. + The Same. Philadelphia printed, Belfast, reprinted; 1818.

+ French edition, Paris: L'Huillier et Delaunay, 1819. 8vo, pp. xvi, 156. Map. + The Same. London: 1818. 8vo, pp. xv, 114. + Second edition, London: 1818. + Third edition, London: Taylor & Hessey, 1818. 8vo. See, also, Richard Flower.

"The author, an English Communist, in 1817 purchased 16,000 acres on English Prairie, Illinois, founded there the town of New Albion, which was settled by English immigrants. The volume consists of letters written to persons in England, in reply to questions relative to economic and social conditions in the West. It is an intelligent, discriminating statement by a foreigner who soon came to understand his adopted country, and did much to inspire and wisely direct English emigration into Illinois." *Burrows Bros. "A work of the greatest rarity. Jadis' copy sold for £5, 15s. 6d. Reprint made: Mass. Hist. Soc. Coll., 3d Ser. VIII., 83-123." Sabin.

In 1602 Capt. Bartholomew Gosnold and 32 Englishmen sailed from Falmouth to examine and explore "the North parts of Virginia," and with him sailed John Brereton. The expedition sailed in March and returned in July, and between these dates they landed at Cape Cod and explored the coast and the Elizabeth Islands. Brereton was one of the five Englishmen who first landed on the shores of New England, and his account is simple and interesting. He also gives a description of the natural advantages, products, etc., and a list of the animals, plants and minerals which they saw. The book includes a brief account of the voyage of Capt. Mace in search of Raleigh's lost colony in Virginia (Roanoke) and a Treatise by Captain Edward Hayes on the advantages of a colony in Virginia and the likelihood of a passage to the South Seas.

Sixty copies on large paper. Forms No. 4 of Gowans' Bibliotheca Americana.

"The first book printed in America by Bradford of which not more than eight copies are now known to exist." Bradford Bibl'y, Grolier Club.

Probably printed by Bradford in Philadelphia, though the imprint is London. Mr. F. D. Stone was of this opinion, and also Mr. Hildeburn. Mr. Mackellar, the type founder, also thought the book came from Bradford's office.

"Good Order was going through the press when the publication of the Almanac called forth the order 'not to print anything but what shall have lycence from ye Council,' and as Budd had recently published in London some strictures on Edward Byllinge, which also reflected on Penn and other Quakers, an application for a license in this case would have met with delay, if not a refusal. These considerations no doubt induced Bradford to omit his name from the imprint." Hildeburn.

This is a guide for prospective settlers, and is a well written prospectus, notwithstanding that it was written in a week's time, as the author declares.

"Had you given me more time, I should have been larger in your satisfaction, but this is what six nights could produce, which time you know is all I had; and of this, the recollecting and reading my ancient studies took up much; but what is done (upon examination) you'll find is clear and true."

The author himself was never in Virginia. His book, he says, was compiled from the books of Hariot, Lane and Smith, and from "discourses" with divers sea captains.

On page 9 he says: "And to encourage Gentlemen, that are desirous of winning honour by making discoveries, . . . let them peruse M. Henry Briggs (that famous mathematician) his Booke printed about 28 years since, wherein he makes it plaine that a Trade from Virginia may be easily driven into the South and West Sea, lying on the backside of Virginia." This book of Brigg's was incorporated with Waterhouse's Virginia, published in 1622, though Allibone gives it as a separate publication with the date, however, of 1652. Burrows Cat.

"We know of nothing which illustrates more forcibly the rapid growth of the vast region northwest of the Ohio River than the contents of this volume. The work is in reality an autobiographical sketch of the author, accompanied by a statement of such facts and incidents relating to the early settlement of the Northwestern Territory as were within his recollection, and might be considered worth preserving. It is an enlargement of his letters published in 1839 in the Transactions of the Historical and Philosophical Society of Ohio, Vol. I, part II.

"It was in 1796 that Jacob Burnet, then twenty-six years of age, left his home in New Jersey and passed into the western wilderness; the young lawyer was bound for Cincinnati. On the eastern edge of the village stood Fort Washington, commanded at that time by a young lieutenant named William Henry Harrison. The young man advanced rapidly in his profession and in popular favor, and in 1798 we find him at the head of the council of five appointed to form a government for the Northern Territory; from this time until his death, in 1853, he continued one of the most respected in the community in which he lived and occupied numerous positions of trust in the State. His work with some few exceptions is considered accurate and is quoted as authority in more modern productions." Thomson.

From the Indian occupation of the country to the middle of the war of 1812. The author was long a resident of the State, and in writing this book had access to the George Rogers Clark and other papers. The early land disputes, the difficulty between Virginia and Kentucky, and navigation of the Mississippi questions are especially well treated. The book ranks among the better class of work of its day.

699. BUTTERFIELD, CONSUL WILLSHIRE. History of Seneca County: Containing a Detailed Narrative of the principal Events that have occurred since its First Settlement down to the Present Time; a History of the Indians that formerly resided within its Limits; Geographical Descriptions, Early Customs, Biographical Sketches, &c., &c. With an Introduction, containing a Brief History of the State, from the Discovery of the Mississippi River down to the Year 1817. To the whole of which is added an Appendix, containing Tabular Views, &c. Sandusky: D. Campbell & Sons, 1848. 12mo, pp. 252.

The introduction gives a very interesting history of the State, which is made up largely from the pages of "Chase's Sketches and Western Adventure." The History of Seneca Countty, pp. 53-190, is very carefully compiled, principally from the experience of the Settlers themselves. This work is uncommon; 2,000 copies were printed, but 1,300 were destroyed by fire in a warehouse in Tiffin, Ohio, in 1849.

Cleveland, O.: The Helman-Taylor Co., 1898. 8vo, pp. 12, 184. Illustrated. Map.

Publications of the Western Reserve Hist. Society. "Stephen Brule was born in Champigny, France, about the year 1592. He came to New France in the ship commanded by Champlain in 1608, which brought men, arms and stores for the settlement to be founded on the River St. Lawrence. He was one of the eight white men who were the original settlers of Quebec. Brule wrote nothing, but his verbal recitals of adventure among the savages were recorded by Champlain, Sagard and Le Caron. From their narratives the author has written this book, which was presented in manuscript in 1897 to the Western Reserve Historical Association. An appendix of 50 pp. gives the author's authorities. Index." Publ. Weekly.

"The long title to this rare little volume is, in fact, an abridgement of its contents. The book consists chiefly of a daily journal, in which the events of the siege are recorded with apparent precision, but with a strong English bias. See Rich. An indifferent copy of this tract brought 20.00 at an auction in New York, Dec. 18, 1868." Sabin.

725. CALEF, ROBERT. More | Wonders | of the | Invisible World: | Or, The Wonders of the | Invisible World, | Display'd in Five Parts. | Part I. A short Historical Accout (sic) of Matters of Fact in that Affair. | To which is added, A Postscript relating to a Book intitled, The | Life of Sir William Phips. | Collected by Robert Calef, Merchant of Boston in New England. | Licensed and entred according to Order. | London: | Printed for Nath. Hillar, at the Princes-Arms, in Leaden-Hall-street, | over against St. Mary-Ax, and Joseph Collyer, at the Golden Bible, | on London Bridge, 1700. | sm. 4to, 6 l., pp. 156.*

"The author gave great offense by opposing the then popular belief concerning witches. In his discussion with Cotton Mather, he is as superior to him in reasoning as he was in good sense and courage." N. Am. Rev., 3,316.

"One of the very rarest books relating to Witchcraft in New England. Copies have sold recently in London for 130, 145 and 190 dollars. A most bitter attack on the Mathers and their treatment of witches, holding that the so-called Executions were so many bloody murders, and styling the whole proceedings at Salem and elsewhere as 'so Diabolical a Wickedness as cannot proceed but from a Doctrine of Devils.' No wonder Increase Mather ordered the book to be burned in the college-yard at Harvard." Wm. George Catalog.

Wantijfs | Antiamed egen bekostnad, af J. H. Werner Abr. 1702. 4to v. Engraved and Printed Title, 9 l., pp. 190. Errata, i l, 6 Maps, and Plates.*

"The author was never in America. His work is made up from verbal accounts received from his father, and notes left by his grandfather, to which he has added facts obtained from the manuscripts of Peter Lindstrom, an engineer." Duponceau.

Müller gives the number of maps as 10.

"The author was the son of the well-known John Campanius, who translated Luther's Catechism into Virginian, in 1696, and who accompanied the Swedish Governor, John Printz, to New Sweden in 1642. An account of this voyage, taken from his journal, is inserted in the present work. The maps and plates are no less valuable than the text. Except one, taken from Nic. Visscher's map of Virginia, they all seem to be original ones. Among the maps we find a very remarkable one of New Sweden, drawn by P. Lindstrom, Ingen. fortif, in 1654 and 1655; it is evidently made with great care and perhaps the oldest map of Pennsylvania existing. Among the plates are views of Trefalldigheets Forte, and of the town of Christiniæ Skantz during a siege by the Dutch in 1655."

"Rich in noticing the rarity of the book and the mistake by which some American cataloguers had given the author's name as Holm, regretted (in 1846) that it had never been translated into any language than Swedish. He did not know that it had been translated by Du Ponceau.

"As I have found discrepancies regarding the number of plates in the catalogues and as far as I know no collation of them exists I insert here an exact notice of them made upon the present copy which conforms to that of the Royal Library at Stockholm.

"1. Plate to face the title: Novae Sueciae seu Pennsylvaniae in America descriptio. Engraved.

"2. Map numbered 1 to face page 1. Totius Americae descriptio. Engraved.

"3. Plate numbered 2 to face p. 4. Cataract of Niagara. Engraved.

"4. Map numbered 3 to face p. 10, Terre de Jesso. In woodcut.

"5. Map numbered 4 to face p. 26, Novae Sueciae Tabula. Engraved.

"6. Map numbered 5 to face p. 36, Nova Suecia hodie dicta Pennsylvanuia. Engraved.

"7. Map numbered 6 to face p. 52, Virginiae, N. Angliae, N. Hollandiae delineatio. Engraved.

"8. Plate numbered 7 to face p. 76, Trefalldig heets Forte. Woodcut.

"9. Plate numbered 8 to face p. 81, Christinae Skantz. Engraved.

"10. Plate numbered 9 to face p. 110, Three Indian Aborigines. Engraved." Fred Müller.

"This excessively rare work is of the highest interest. It begins by a general description of America, and in the account of Virginia divides it into three regions: New Sweden, New England and New Netherland. The work includes 32 pp. of vocabularies. Campanius does not omit the old Norse discovery of America. He was grandson of John Campanius, who translated Luther's Catechism into Virginian.

"The separate plates consist of three pictures: I. View of Niagara; II. Meeting of Penn and the Indians; III. Group of Three Savages, designed by P. Landstrom, 1655; and of four maps: I. General Map of America; II. Nova Suecia, after Nic Vischer; III. English America; IV. Nova Suecia, designed in 1654-55 by Landstrom. All the plates were engraved by Campanius in 1702, at Stockholm. Clean and perfect copies like this, in the original binding, are seldom met with." Pennypacker Catalog.

It was the intention to publish a condensed history of every State in the Union. Histories were issued in 1853-1856 of Vermont, Connnecticut, New Jersey, Illinois, Tennessee, Ohio, Kentucky, Georgia, Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania. Each volume has the engraved title with the State Arms, and each has an engraved frontispiece of some celebrated man of the State in question. This series was stereotyped and many imprints were made in different years.

See also: T. S. Arthur.

Some of these State histories have the name of T. S. Arthur first on the title, and in some the name of W. H. Carpenter is given precedence.

801. CARVER, JONATHAN, CAPT. Travels through the Interior Parts of North America, in the Years 1766, 1767, and 1768. By J. Carver, Esq., Captain of a Company of Provincial Troops during the late War with France. Illustrated with Copper Plates. London: Printed for the Author, and sold by J. Walter, 1778. 8vo, 10 l., pp. xvi, 543, (1). 2 Maps and 4 Plates. + Dublin: S. Price, 1779. 8vo, 10 l., pp. 508. Map and 2 Plates. Second Edition. London: J. Dodsley, 1779. 8vo, pp. xxii, 543. 2 Maps and 4 Plates. + Third Edition. To which is added, Some Account of the Author, and a copious Index. London: C. Dilly; H. Payne; and J. Phillips, 1781. 8vo, 2 l., pp. 22, 11 l., 77, 543, 21. Portrait and 1 Plate, 3 colored Plates, 2 Maps.

"The first edition is printed with a large margin, and is often billed in booksellers' catalogues, large paper. I have seen many copies, but they were all the same size until cut by the binder. To the third and best edition, a biography of the author, and an index are added by John Coakley Lettsom, M. D., who had become the proprietor of the work, and whose preface is dated March 30, 1781. The new plates include a portrait of Carver, and a colored drawing of the tobacco plant. With the exception of the prefatory matter, however, and the index to this edition, the three are precisely alike. The life and index were printed separately, 'for the convenience of the purchasers of the first and second editions; on whom I was unwilling to raise an extraordinary tax for the third edition.'" J. C. Lettsom.

"Lowndes quotes a large paper copy; but I have not seen one entitled to that appellation. Carver came to England soon after he returned from his travels, with the intention of publishing an account of them; but when he had already sold the MS. to a bookseller, he was ordered by the government to deliver up all his maps and journals; and it was not until near ten years after that he obtained permission to publish the work. Mo. Rev. 60, 90." Sabin.

"This valuable work lately attracted much attention from its description of parts near the supposed Northwest Passage." Lowndes.

"Although the work was very favorably received and went through several editions, its author derived but little benefit from it; and in 1780, 'a putrid fever supervening a long continued dysentery, brought on by want, put an end to the life of a man, who, after rendering at the expense of fortune and health, and the risk of life, many important services to his country, perished through want, in the first city of the world.'" Lettsom.

"An edition unknown to bibliographers. Brunet describes an edition of the same year and by the same printer under Ribaut, and again under Le Challeux, who, in reality, was the writer of the work. * * * Chauveton in his Latin version of Benzoni, first printed in Geneva in 1578, 8vo., has given at the end of the volume a Latin translation of the relation of Le Challeux; and the original French text is reprinted at the end of Chauveton's French version of Benzoni. Geneva, 1570. 8vo. De Bry in the sixth part of the Grands Voyages 2d appendix, 'Expeditio in Floridam,' and at the end of chapter 1, and in chapter 11, pages 87 et seq., has given an exact copy of Chauveton's Latin version of this little tract of Le Challeux. J. R. Bartlett." Sabin.

The following is a translation: A true and perfect de- | scription of the last vo- | yage or Nauigation attempted by | Capitaine Iohn Ribaut, deputie | and general for the Frenchmen, into | Terra Florida, this yeare past, 1565. | Truely sette forth by those that re- | turned from thence, wherein | are contayned things as la- | mentable to heare as they | haue bene cruelly | executed. | Imprinted | at London by Henry Denham, | for Thomas Hacket, and | are to be solde at his Shop | in Lumbart | streate. | 1566. 12mo. 4. p. 1, 24, 1.

"A volume of excessive rarity. We know of but two copies, one in Mr. Brown's library and one in the British Museum." Sabin.

1124. CREVECOEUR, J. HECTOR ST. JOHN. Letters from an American Farmer; Describing Certain Provincial Situations, Manners, and Customs, not generally known; and conveying some Idea of the late and present Interior Circumstances of the British Colonies in North America. Written for the Information of a Friend in England. By Hector St. John (Creve Coeur), A Farmer in Pennsylvania. London: Thomas Davies and Lockyer Davies, 1782. 8vo, 8 l., pp. 318. 2 Maps. + Dublin: John Enshaw, 1782. 12mo, 6 l., pp. 256. 2 Maps. + New Edition. London: Thomas Davies, 1783. 8vo, 7 l., pp. 326. 2 Maps. + Philadelphia: From the Press of Mathew Carey, March 4, 1873. 12mo, pp. 240. + Philadelphia, 1798. 12mo, pp. 260.

"The author was a native of Normandy, of noble birth, and came to the British Colonies at the age of sixteen. Having established himself on a farm near the frontier, he became one of the first victims of the War of Independence, the Indian allies of Great Britain setting fire to and destroying his property. He wrote his letters during the different epochs of the war, in English. Returning to France he translated them into French." Rich.

"His work is a most pleasing report of the resources and charms of the country when it was far more isolated and exclusively rural than at present. Somewhat like a prose idyl is this record; Hazlitt delighted in its naive enthusiasm, and commended it to Charles Lamb, as well as in the 'Quarterly,' as giving an idea how American scenery and manners may be treated with a lively poetic interest. Tuckerman's America and her Commentators." Sabin 1125. ———. Letters from an American Farmer, by J. Hector St. John Crevecoeur. With a Foreword by Professor W. P. Trent of Columbia, and an appendix containing some hitherto unpublished letters from Crevecoeur to Franklin. 8vo.

"A reprint of a delightful American classic first issued in 1782 and now for more than a century out of print. Crevecoeur, whose full name was J. Hector St. John Crevecoeur, was born in Normandy in 1731 and came to this country at the age of twenty-three. His book, written in the form of letters from an American Farmer in Pennsylvania to a friend in England, became immediately popular and won praise from Hazlitt, and Charles Lamb. Its graceful English style, its love of nature and keen observation of natural phenomena, its cheerful optimism and humor make it as fresh and readable to-day as it was one hundred years ago." Burrows Bros. List.

Belcher, Printer. | 1812. 12mo, pp. 219. 5 Plates.*

With 4 plates of the Missouri antelope, portraits of a man and woman of the Flat Head Nation, and a rare view of Cincinnati, all engraved by J. Cutler, U. S. Army. Contains the first engraved plate of Cincinnati.

"Jervis Cutler, son of Ephraim Cutler, is said to be the first emigrant who landed at Marietta; the illustrations in this work were drawn by himself. Pages 7-52 are devoted to a general description of Ohio, and at p. 42 is a curious view of Cincinnati in 1809, the first engraved. LeRaye's Journal of his experience among the Sioux Indians forms part of the volume and occupies pages 158-204. It never appeared in any other form. Lieutenant Cutler was one of the band of emigrants from Mass. under Gen. Rufus Putnam, who in 1788 settled at Marietta." Thomson.

"The Journal of LeRaye, not published elsewhere, is of considerable value." Brinley.

"Thompson speaks of it as containing five plates in which he is mistaken, there being but four. One is a curious view of Cincinnati in 1809 and is the first engraved of that city." Burrows Bros. Catalog.

Battles, Defeat and Captivity of those heroic Kentucky Volunteers and Regulars, commanded by General Winchester in the year 1812-1813. Also, Two Narratives by men who were wounded in the Battles on the River Raisin, and taken Captive by the Indians. (Printed for the Author.) Paris, Kentucky: Printed by Joel R. Lyle, 1813. 8vo, Title, 1 leaf, Preface 1 leaf, pp. 2-57, 7, 1 page unnumbered.

"Mr. Field, in his Indian Bibliography, gives the date as 1812, which certainly must be a mistake, for the Battle of Raisin to which it refers was not fought until the 22d of January, 1813. The two natives mentioned in the title are Timothy Mallary and John Davenport. By a curious oversight all works relating to this author spell the name Darnell instead of Darnall, as it is spelled on the title-page, and at the end of the Preface." Thomson.

"This is a seriously undertaken and exhaustively and ably executed historical monograph on one of the most curious incidents in our early annals—the armed resistance in Bucks and Northampton counties, Pennsylvania, to 'The House Tax Law' of 1798. As one of the minor rebellions against the new federal authority Fries' insurgency has a place in our history alongside Shay's Rebellion in Massachusetts in 1786, and the Whiskey Insurrection in Southwestern Pennsylvania in 1792-94. But while both of these were long ago dignified by treatment in books especially devoted to them, it remained until recently for Fries' Rebellion to receive similar attention. The subject could not well have come into more competent hands than those of Gen. W. H. H. Davis, the veteran editor of the Doylestown Democrat, and author of a much-prized history of Bucks county and various other works. Living in the theatre of the home tax war, the author came gradually into possession of a great mass of curious local information in regard to John Fries and other actors in the insurrectionary movement, and combining these new and little known facts with the broader ones more generally in the knowledge of historical writers and students, of which he exhibits a most complete grasp, he has made a contribution of real worth to history, whether viewed from a local or national standpoint." Leary's Catalog.

Reprint from Proc. Mass. Hist. Soc. 18. (1880-81.) Contains a facsimile of the original MSS title.

"It would seem from the internal evidence furnished by the Journal and express testimony of Purchas (Smith's Generall Historie, p. 203), that this composition was by James Davies, who, in the organization at Sagadahoc, held the office of captain of the fort. This journal was found to be the source whence Strachey drew his account of the colony." Winsor. Hist. Am. 3, 193. "Alexander Brown (Genesis U. S., 1, 141), says that it was probably written by Davies. The preface reviews the story of the settlement, and the appendix reprints the extracts from Gorges, Smith, Purchas and Alexander, from which, previous to the publication of Strachey's account, all knowledge of the colony was derived." Williamson, I, 356.

"The first account of New York printed in English. and very rare. The title-page being printed on paper larger than the rest of the volume, the date is often cut off by the binder. The only copy we have seen with the date not cut off belongs to John F. McCoy, whose copy is uncut, and measures 8 x 6 inches." Sabin.

"This volume will always command a place in the very front rank of Americana as the first account of New York printed in English. It contains much interesting information told in quaint fashion. In giving an account of the fruits natural to the island the author mentions 'Mulberries, Posimons, Grapes great and small, Huckelberries, Cramberries, Plums of several sorts, Rosberries and Strawberries, of which last is such abundance in June that the Fields and Woods are died red; Which the Countrey-People perceiving, instantly arm themselves with bottles of Wine, Cream and Sugar, and instead of a Coat of Male, every one a Female upon his horse behind him and so rushing violently into the fields, never leave till they have disrob'd them of their red colours, and turned them into the old habit." Brayton Ives Catalog.

"The title-page was printed on such a large scale that the date at the bottom of it was uniformly cut off by the binder. The date was so rare that Gowans, the veteran collector and dealer, had not seen a copy with it, and omitted it in his reprint of the book." Brayton Ives Catalog.

This volume was written during 1670 by one Daniel Denton, an officer of the law, in Jamaica, in Queens County, on Long Isalnd, and is a vivid and clear description of New York city and of the surrounding country (including the present State of New Jersey) of that period. The inhabitants, their customs, habits and conditions are also carefully noted, the Indians are mentioned quite exhaustively, and the whole forms a narrative of great historical interest.

"Aside from its physical peculiarities, the subject-matter is of much interest to the collector of Americana or the student of the youth of his country." Reader Magazine. Burrows Brothers Cat.

"The first edition was published in March, and the second in June following. These letters appeared simultaneously in the Pennsylvania Chronicle and Gazette, in twelve issues, beginning Dec. 3, 1767; towards the close of the series the Chronicle was a few days ahead of the Gazette and Journal, which joined the others with numbers one and two, on the 10th of Dec. They were promptly reprinted in nearly all the twenty-five papers then published on the continent, Miller and Sower's German papers and the Boston Evening Post being the exceptions. The French edition states that 30 editions were published in America within six months. This statement may have included the newspaper reprints, as only eight in pamphlet form are now known to have been printed in America.

Two editions were also published in London and one in Dublin." Hildeburn, 2, 75.

"My Lord Hillsborough mentioned the Farmer's Letters to me, said he had read them, that they were well written, and he believed he could guess who was the author, looking me in the face at the time, as if he thought it was me. He censured the doctrine as extremely wild. I have read them as far as No. 8; I know not if any more has been published. I should have thought they had been writen by Mr. Delancy, not having heard of the others you point out as joint authors." Franklin's letter to Son.

Introduction by R. T. H. Halsey. New York: The Outlook Co., 1903. 8vo, pp. 68, 148.

A reprint. Edition of 39 copies on Japan paper and 260 on Van Gelder hand-made paper. Illustrated by a portrait of John Dickinson.

"Written in a plain style, didactic yet argumentative, and with illustrations taken from classical and English constitutional sources, each point proven with telling accuracy, John Dickinson's clear exposition of the constitutional relations between Parliament and the Colonies circulated widely, and did much to mould opinion at home and abroad.

"Owing to the beauty of its page and typography, and the excellence of its binding, one of the Boston editions was selected for reprinting at The Gilliss Press in a limited edition of two hundred and sixty copies on Van Gelder hand-made paper.

"The type used is the Caslon Old Style, the nearest approach to that used in the original edition and the book is set page for page, and line for line with original.

"The historical introduction is by R. T. H. Halsey, and there are for illustrations a portrait of John Dickinson (photogravure on copper by Bilbo, after a contemporary print), and a gelatine print in colors, of a contemporary Chelsea-Derby porcelain statuette." Burrows Catalog.

"This work is the production of a gentleman who was reared in the wilderness, and was intimately acquainted with the whole subject on which he writes; it is drawn from original sources, and almost entirely from personal observation. Brought up in the wilderness, the inmate of a cabin, Dr. Doddridge spent his whole life in the midst of those dangers and vicissitudes which made up the life of the borderer, and he has detailed a variety of minute circumstances which render the book exceedingly valuable.

"It is one of the original authorities, and although erroneous in some respects is in the main correct. This work, and Wither's Chronicles, have long been considered of primary importance in collections of books relating to America, and especially to those relating to the Ohio Valley; this constant demand has rendered them very scarce, and only to be had at a high figure.

"Doddridge's Notes is reprinted almost entire in Kercheval's Valley of Virginia, in which reprint Brantz Meyer says, 'some liberties have been taken by way of transposition.' From an old newspaper clipping we learn that in the infancy of the Protestant Episcopal Church Dr. Doddridge cheerfully gave his services in its behalf, but in 1820 he announced his intention of resuming the medical profession as the means of acquiring a competency for his approaching age." Thomson.

"It was reprinted in Kircheval's Valley of Virginia, pp. 251-410, and in part in Beckley's Indian Wars." Sabin.

(Representation of New Netherland, concerning the Situation, Fruitfulness and Sad Condition thereof.)

"Its rarity in Europe may be inferred from the fact that the illustrious Ebeling mentions it as probably a printed document, and Lambrechtsen, the late Dutch historian of New Netherland, says, that notwithstanding repeated efforts he had been unable to obtain possession of it." Murphy.

"The author was probably Adrian vander Donck." O'Callahan's Hist. N. Neth., ii. Brodhead, New York, i.

"This small volume of not more than 40 pp. is perhaps the most important for the History of New Netherland of all up to the date of its publication. Mr. O'Callaghan, in his 'History of New York, vol. ii, pp. 90-11-126, gives a complete history of it, from the author's (van der Donck's ?) arrival in the Country, his difficulties when writing it, &c., up to his return to Holland." Müller.

Sold: Brinley, 1880, 112.50; Barlow, 1890, levt mo, glt, by Riviere, 35.00.

1355. ———. Vertoogh v Nieu Nederland and; Breeden Raedt aen de Vereenichde Nerderlansche Provintien. Two rare tracts printed in 1649-50, relating to the administration of affairs in New Netherland. Translated from the Dutch by Henry C. Murphy. New York: 1854. Large 4to, pp. vii, (1), 190.

"This edition of the translation of the Vertoogh, probably written by v d Donck and formerly published in the Collections of the New York Historical Society, 1849, and of the Breeden Raedt, was privately printed in 125 copies by the care and at the expense of James Lenox, Esq., of New York. It is accompanied by a preface and a learned introduction of the translator, who also added on pp. 101 to 124 and 180-190 a great number of documents relating to these questions, all taken from original sources. A map on page 120 is a reproduction of part of a map in Goos Zee-Atlas." F. Müller.

Sold: Pennypacker, 1906, large pap, cl, unct, 4.50.

Publ. in Coll. Hist. Soc.

This is a reprint of the 1643 edition. It is No. 1 of the Eliot Tracts.

"'This reprint of the first of that series of reports to the Corporation for Propagating the Gospel among the Indians of New England, known as the Eliot Tracts, has the great defect of being published without note, comment or biographical sketch. Indeed, the whole of Mr. Sabin's reprints are unedited, and thus an excellent opportunity of adding to the common stock of knowledge regarding their bibliographical history, as well as that of their author, editors, and the venerable society which printed them, was lost.' T. W. Field.
